HYPOCRISY

Shown by the Republican Legislators.

They Fight Honest Government in Cincinnati for the Reason

That They Failed to Get Their Own Men in Local Office,

Though Favoring It When They Think They Have a Chance.

Their Disgraceful Course Exposed.

The Republican party has always been the party of fraud and pretense. Its assumption of honesty in government is generally governed by political policy. This was never shown to any better advantage than in the special session of the Legislature called by Governor Campbell. Governor Campbell announced that he wanted to give the people of Ohio in certain cities Home Rule. To that effect he recommended that the R. P. I. be abolished and be elected by the people. To this the Republicans agreed at once, because it gave their party a chance to capture the R. P. I. of Cincinnati, and perhaps 1,500 offices. The sight of an office always whets the blood of a reform Republican. But mark you what occurred when the Democrats proposed a different plan. They proposed to give the Governor power to remove the men he had appointed, and in six months more that right would be transferred to the people, where it belonged, and to which the original bill assigned it at the end of the first year. It would be supposed that they would be willing to make some concessions for the sake of home rule. Nobody who heard their reform professions would accuse them of an unwillingness to wait six months, but their conduct shows how conclusive is the proof of the assertion at the head of this article. When this measure to make the office elective at the end of six months came to a vote not one Republican voted for it. In the House every single Republican voted against it, showing how hypocritical and deceitful this party of alleged moral grandeur really is. The Democratic party of Ohio has always been in favor of home rule. It could not leave the old R. P. I. of Cincinnati in power during the election, for then the very element that produced the scandal and corruption in Cincinnati in 1889 would still be in a position to employ all their vast power to perpetuate themselves even in spite of the people. The Democrats did the next best thing. They told the people of Cincinnati to wait one year when they could elect that board and in the meantime they would be governed by an honest board appointed by a Democratic Governor.

In the meantime Governor Campbell found out the board contained dishonest men, and he made up his mind that they should step down and out. For that purpose the Legislature was called together. The Republicans preferred it should remain in office scandalizing the people of Cincinnati, unless they had their way. In other words, they were willing to be honest and square for political reward in the shape of 1,500 offices, but they were not willing these men should go if the Democrats were to keep their own workers in office, and at the same time depend on the men under suspicion among the people.

Whenever a Republican howls for honest government, mark one thing, he expects to get a slice of the patronage, and if he doesn't get it he is not so much interested in reform.

A Political Blasphemy.

Senator John J. Ingalls, the Kansas shlylock and Republican leader in the United States Senate, who charges the farmers of the State eighteen per cent has been out making Republican speeches, and here is a portion of one of them:

I have erred in calling the Democracy a party. It is an aggregation of the ignorance, the imbecility, the disloyalty of this country. It is strongest where public morality is weakest, reinforcing all the dangerous and destructive agencies society, and having neither conscience nor courage of conviction. It is a perpetual and constant menace to the property, the honor of the American people.

Honesty Will Win.

Samuel J. Tilden had to fight some bad men in his own party. Governor Campbell had to do the same thing. Samuel J. Tilden made his party and name synonym of honesty and integrity in office. He lifted it to a high plane and on that issue he was elected President of the United States by a quarter of a million majority of the popular vote, and that tends to show that honesty is the best policy. Desperate cases need desperate remedies, and Dr. Campbell has shown himself to be a physician without fear or favor. The issue of honesty vs. dishonesty raised by him means thousands of votes to his party this year and next.

DAN RYAN, the Republican Secretary of State, is finding serious fault with the Democratic press for criticizing his official conduct. He would have the public believe that he is being abused, and that Democrats are making a personal fight on him. Such is not the case. The Democrats find no fault with him as a man and a citizen, but they find fault with his administration. He is running on his record. If that record can not be discussed, is it better to abolish elections altogether and elect Dan for life. Has it come to that pass in this country where a public official can not be criticized for his actions without raising the cry that he is being abused? No Democrats find fault with Dan Ryan as a man. They do find fault with his record. They think he has been too expensive, because he cost the people $25,000 more than any other secretary ever did before.

OUR DUTY

In the Coming November Election Stated

In Plain Language That None Can Mistake or Misinterpret.

No Ohio Democrat Should Scratch a Single Democratic Candidate.

Local Victories Over the State Means That Cromley's Election.

The duty of every Democrat in the State of Ohio is perfectly plain. When on election day he goes to the polls he should vote for every man on the ticket without any exception. Senator Ingalls, one of the Republican idols, says that the meanest Republican is better than the best Democrat. Senator Hoar says he wants to see a file of Union soldiers at and around every ballot-box. Census Supervisor Porter has gone into Democratic States and purposely reduced the count of the population for the purpose of ennobling the Democrats out of a Congressional man and there and no stops have been taken and no one left unturned to disfranchise Democrats in all the States of the Union. Every Republican candidate before the people this fall, whether on the State, Congressional, district or county ticket is pledged to the support of the men who have been hatching all these outrages against the people. When a Republican candidate asks your vote in a local election ascertain if he intends to vote for the men who are supporting the big, burly Reed, who stole the seats of a dozen Democratic Congressmen, and who are urging the iniquitous Force bill on the country to rob the Southern people of their rights, as well as to annoy and embarrass Northern Democrats. Don't vote for any Republican who upholds the outrages perpetrated by the Republican Congress. Rest assured that Republicans are not voting for Democrats. Their policy is to get all the Democratic votes possible and then make no return. If there ever was a time when the Democratic party should stand together man to man, shoulder to shoulder, that time is now. In unity there is strength, but in a division there is danger and disaster. No Democrat should scatter his fire. Let it be turned upon the common enemy. Let every Democrat in Ohio come out to the polls this fall. Let him vote for every man on his local ticket and let him swell the Democratic vote of the State into a great victory for Thad Cromley in November. A united and enthusiastic victory in the different counties in Ohio mean much in November and more next year. The Democrats have Ohio almost in their grasp. All that is needed is a long pull, a strong pull and the Buckeye State will permanently swing into the column of Democratic commonwealths.

SUPPLY AND DEMAND.

As Outraged by the McKinley High Tariff Bill.

Dispatches from Europe and Great Britain inform us of the closing down of many large manufacturing establishments, throwing out of employment thousands of skilled workmen, because of the passage of the McKinley tariff bill. Thus we already find the fruits of the bill, as it affects the old world amounting to practically prohibition.

On the other hand the manufacturers in this country are in high gloom over the prospect of acquiring immense fortunes in the near future because of the advance in all of their products.

Supplies from abroad being virtually shut off, the demand must be met with home production at prices as much higher as the tariff tax.

What will be the effect on labor and wages? Will the earnings of the workmen be increased in proportion to the increased cost of living, or the increased profits to the employer? Not much!

Considering the army of idle men abroad, and the facilities they have coming to America, we may look for an influx of emigration to our shores such as was never before known.

Reports show that a larger number of emigrants arrived from abroad during the past month than ever before in the same length of time. Thus the supply of labor is already exceeding the demand, and we may look for attempted reduction in wages instead of an advance.

For the moment the workman and mechanic seeks to get an increase of pay for their work, their places will be filled with imported labor on which there is no tariff, but rather a standing inducement by the McKinley robbery-bill supporters to come over and share the benefits (?) of protection (?) labor. Will the workman, the farmer and the mechanic continue to be hoodwinked by a party owned and controlled by monopolists, trusts, incorporated usurers and aristocratic nabobs?

The law of supply and demand can not be violated with impunity without entailing disaster, and workman and farmer are the only sufferers.

Public Office a Private Snag.

It is quite likely that the census all over the country is as untrustworthy as it has been shown to be in the great cities. The census officers now estimate the population of the United States at 63,000,000. It is probably many millions more. The census is utterly untrustworthy. It is the work of an incompetent Administration employing incompetent agents. It was planned in parsimony and carried out by penny politicians, who could not even lie with dignity. The whole business is a failure and a fraud. It only goes to show that the Democratic party leaders are incompetent to handle this Government, and when they do handle it they lose no opportunity to benefit themselves. With their public office is private spoliation.

THE INCREASE

On the Necessities of Life One-Third Higher,

While the Duties on Luxuries for the Rich

REMAINS ABOUT THE SAME.

Difference it makes to the Workingman.

The Great Crime of the Age.

Daniel McKeever, the well-known economist and New York merchant, writes his views on the tariff question, as applied to wearing apparel, which interests everybody, and particularly people without great means. Mr. McKeever says:

The actual additional cost to the importer on the various articles used by men and women for clothing purposes is from 25 to 50 per cent more than under the old tariff, but the actual advance asked to-day by the importers is only from 15% to 25 per cent. But this is only for to-day, because no man is willing, after his stock at a low price is cleared out, and if he is to pay the additional cost on the new stock, to sell at such a small advance.

The enhanced cost of all the cheaper grades of textile fabrics used by either men or women will fall on those who are less prepared to pay it, namely, the poor consumers. Every article that may be classed among the necessities of life is increased over 35% per cent on an average, while the luxuries remain about the same. The workingman's wages are not and will not be increased one iota, whereas there is not a laboring man in the country whose expenses will not be increased from $30 to $60 a year. This may seem a very small sum to the millionaires, but $30 a year to the workingman means thirty days' wages given for nothing, as the workingman's time is his capital, and what he loses in time means his loss of capital. Every workingman who earns $4 or $5 or $8 a week will feel the increased tax, without a dollar of benefit to him. The strongest advocate of the bill would not dare to claim that the McKinley tariff bill will advance from $5 to $8 a week because it will cost her at least $1 a week extra to clothe herself, under the McKinley bill as well as she could have done under the old bill.

The result of the entire matter will be that the consumer, and by the consumer I mean the working man, must of necessity do with fewer goods and less changes of clothing than heretofore. If under the present rate of wages the workingman has been simply able to keep himself and clothe his family, he certainly can not afford to give thirty days of his labor for nothing to simply keep himself as he has been doing up to this time. It may be a little while before the working classes realize the effect of the McKinley tariff bill on them, but when they do realize that and see in actual facts that which has hitherto cost them $5 will now cost $8 they will rise on masses and demand the repeal of such an iniquitous law which but imposes a wholly unnecessary burden on the poorer classes.

To-day they have practically prohibited 50 per cent of the cheap classes of goods. The consumer of that 50 per cent must pay the enhanced value to either the manufacturers or the importer. The importer, if he has to pay the enhanced value, must change prices accordingly. The manufacturers have got to pay so much additional cost on his raw material that he is no better off than the importer, so that the consumer is the only sufferer.

The cotton clothes worn by the farm laborer, which heretofore paid a duty of 35 per cent, now to-day 115 per cent, whereas the clothes worn by a millionaire are raised from 50 per cent to 60 per cent.

SENATOR HOAR gives the country to understand that the Force Bill can not be repealed by the Democrats after it becomes a law. Of course it can't. Senator Hoar has a Republican majority in the Senate, from rotten borough States, of which he boasts, to prevent it. But this shows the great importance of the bill as a leading issue in this campaign. If the people can't repeal the law they must prevent its passage.

At the dry-goods stores the consumer always finds that the foreigner who pays the tax has unaccountably forgotten to do so and that he has got to pay it himself. The foreigner means well enough, but being a busy man these little details slip his mind, greatly to the annoyance of the customer, who has been told by Mr. McKinley and others equally reliable Protectionists that the foreigner always pays the tax.

WHAT a glorious record is that made for the Democratic party through Governor Campbell. Who ever heard of a Republican executive in Ohio declaring war on a powerful wing of his party which persisted in standing by several men who were believed to be dishonest. In this contemplation there is hope of the highest kind for the future of the State and the Nation. The man and the party who put off integrity above party fealty, deserve the approbation of the entire people regardless of party. We believe, as we always have, that the salvation of the republic depends upon the Democratic party.

The McKinley Bill is young as yet, but already it has demonstrated that it has a lusty grip, that it can set its teeth hard upon the workingman's dollar and let go only after it has bitten a piece out. Dealers in clothing and cloths are marking up their wares. Queensware houses see before them the necessity for taking a similar step. Tobacco, which so eminent a Protectionist as Blaine, of Maine, declared a necessity, is higher. The pots and pans of the kitchen advance in price. Cutlery is higher. The laboring man has to stand the advance. All of us have to stand it, as far as that goes, but it falls harder where the additional duties on luxuries are raised. Not much.

"NOT A POLITICAL DOCUMENT."

But Highly Instructive for Those Who Think the Tariff is Not a Tax.

[From the Chicago News.]

The only comment which it seems necessary to make on the subject of the circular is that contained in the letter of transmittal, in which the information is vouchsafed that "the house was established by the late Wilder D. Foster, for many years Republican member of Congress from this district. Although dead his name is still at the head of the firm and his estate is a partner."

FOSTER, STEVENS & CO.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 19, 1890.—Gentlemen: As important and rather radical advances in prices of some articles in the hardware line are daily taking place we wish to say a few words so you may more fully understand the situation and not think that the jobber is overcharging you.

AXES.

There is now but one axe company in the United States, and that is called the American Axe and Tool Company, with headquarters at Pittsburgh. The company has purchased outright every axe factory in the country of any importance, and by thus controlling the production has advanced prices on an average 35 a dozen, plus freight, from 10 to 40 per cent. In cross-cut it is the same. By a consolidation of interests prices have been advanced from four to eight cents a foot.

SAWS.

Every thing made of lead has taken decided advance, owing to recent decisions on the admitting of Mexican ore into this country, as well as by combinations of manufacturers. Shot, lead pipe, pig lead, solder, babbit metal have all advanced, and may go still higher. The passage of the Silver bill will also affect all articles made of or coated with silver. In the hardware line plated knives and forks, spoons, etc., will be affected and advances made.

LEADS.

The present tariff on sheet tin is one cent a pound, and the McKinley Tariff Bill, which no doubt will pass both houses of Congress, advances the duty to 2-10 cents a pound. This means of course, advance from $1.25 to $2 a box, according to the weight of said box. This advance in sheet tin will affect all articles of tinware, and advances will be made on all tinware. No a box of tin in New York has already advanced from 50 cents to $1 a box and is growing stronger each day, as the certainty of the passage of the McKinley Tariff Bill becomes more assured. No a box of tin is used in this country, notwithstanding which tin has declined in price from $15 to $4.75 a box during the last twenty-five years.

GLASS.

The window-glass market of this country is practically in the hands of two large companies, who work in harmony as to prices, which has resulted in a steady advance for the last year, averaging about 30 per cent.

RINC OR STOVE BOARDS.

The Adams & Wentlake Company, A. L. Griggs & Son, Shepley & Co., Palmer Manufacturing Company, H. Hendrick & Co., Central Stamping Company, W. H. Sweeney Manufacturing Company—all the above named firms were anxious for our business last year, but now they have all sold out to the American Stove Board Company, with offices in New York and Chicago, and a general advance on all lines have taken place. Last year you could buy a 26-inch square paper-lined stove for 20 cents. This year the same thing costs you 75 cents—an advance of 100 per cent.

SCHEMANT.

We call your attention to these matters so you will understand why, on nearly every invoice you get, you will find a price higher than it was before. The tendency of the times seems to be to consolidation, thus enabling large corporations to produce the goods cheaper and sell them at a higher price. We fall to find, however, in all the consolidation of various lines of goods a single instance, notwithstanding the advance they put on goods, where they have not advanced the price of labor a cent. If the consumer purchases last does not pay this increased cost we do not know who does. If he reaps any personal benefit from it we would like to hear of it.

This is not a political document, but a fair statement of the condition of certain lines of business as we daily come in contact with them.

FOSTER, STEVENS & CO., Hardware Merchants.

Blackguard Ingalls.

The Republican party is asking for the votes of the Democrats in Ohio. In Pennsylvania they had Senator Ingalls making some speeches, and here is his opinion of the people he and his party want to help them out.

I suppose, fellow citizens, that in the suburbs of every city, at least in the suburbs of most cities with which I am conversant, there is a vacant space of common land in which the neighborhood deposit what they have got done with. Where will you find the empty cans, the cast-off clothing, the surplus of victuals with which the community, having had the usufruct, is fatigued, and finally desires to dispose of without further comment. The Democratic party is the dumping ground of politics in the nineteenth century. Every excluded heresy, every abandoned heresy, everything the nation has got done with and tired of and cast away to be trodden under foot of men, is the heritage of the Democratic party.

THAD CROMLEY, the candidate of the Democracy for Secretary of State, is a plain, honest, every-day man, who is now, and always has been, in touch with the people. Elect a man of the people to this important office.

ADVISES from all quarters of the State indicate a hopeful feeling among the Democrats. A clean ticket, a good cause and an unimpeachable record of the administration should, and we believe will, carry the State ticket to victory.

The Democratic party is the only one in this country that dares carry out its profession that only honest men should go on guard in this country. Look over the record and see if a Republican Legislature was ever called together to put a gang of Republican thieves out of office. Not much.

RE-CL-PROG-I-TY.

BY WILL A. CROMLEY.

I met an hon. at farmer,

And I took him by the hand,

Said I: are you a millionaire,

Or how do you stand?

"My house and lands are mortgaged

To an Eastern company;

But we've got the finest tariff, etc.

That ever you did see.

Yes, we've got the highest tariff,

And the lowest grade," said he,

"For they've shut us off from trade,

With the countries over the sea.

But we buy protected clothing

And our farm machinery;

And they tell us we'll be happy,

With some 20-cent-protection.

I met a telling minister,

And I said: How do you do?

Are you laying up your wages,

With a competence in view?

"Oh, I work for slender wages,

For my wife and children three;

But we've got the finest tariff, etc.

That ever you did see.

Yes, we've got the highest tariff,

But the poorest grade," said he,

"For they've shut us off from trade,

With the countries over the sea.
